

Hua Ai, Manager of Data Science at Delta Airlines:

“Denis and team are great to work with. They have a lot of experience to guide design and implementation of conversational based data inquiry. Product is easy to use and easily integrate with standard data sources and work environment.

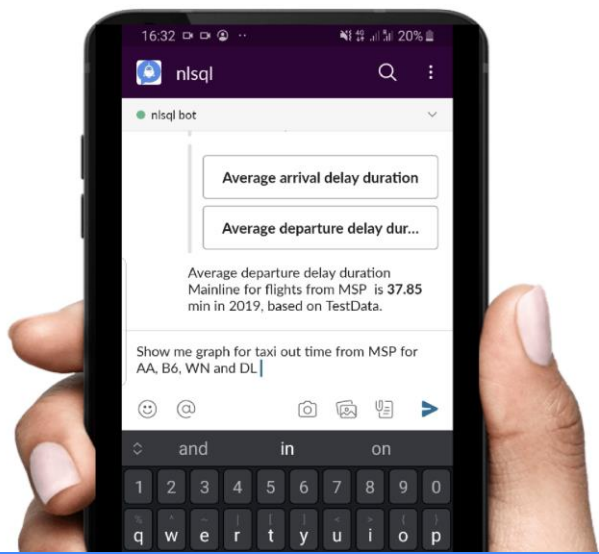

Technology works as advertised;

Little effort for new data to get integrated.”

Google-like search for Delta operational analysis performance in Slack App

Why NLSQL?

NLSQL helps Delta Airlines employees to search airlines Key Performance Indicators and get automated analytics from multiple data sources instantly, just chatting with Slack App.

Simple

Easy as Google search

Precise

Up to 100% accuracy. Best rate in class.

Secure

No sensitive data transfer outside

Compatible

Fits existing IT environment

Benefits for Delta Airlines

- No need to wait when data analyst pull out requested figures from the database. Anyone can get data by themselves and drill down into end-to-end analytics. No technical skills required.
- No need to open several tables or data sources for the complex calculation. You can have one text interface for the multiple data sources. The only once source of truth for all company.
- No need to switch between external data supplier and company database. You can benchmark and track your business indicators with average market figures and competitors in one window.

NLSQL use case for Delta Airlines

NLSQL saves time and money for quick access and benchmark with competitors for industry Key Performance Indicators such as number of flights, delay rate, completion factor, taxi in/taxi out time, average delay/arrival duration, cancel codes by airport, flight route, region for mainline or Delta connection flights.